

“You are in recovery if you say you are”*

- Views on recovery in drug treatment

Does recovery from addiction mean achieving abstinence or getting control over substance-use? Does the concept of recovery describe a process or an aim? The views may differ depending on form of treatment and political conviction.

The Nordic popular-scientific website www.popNAD.com, Dansk Psykologforenings Selskab for Misbrugspsykologi and the Department of Anthropology, University of Copenhagen are pleased to welcome you to this seminar on recovery in drug treatment. The seminar will give you an international view on recovery and also a look at what it might mean for drug treatment in Scandinavia.

Where? When?

11 November 2016 9.45-14.30

University of Copenhagen

Bispetorvet 3, st.

Alexandersalen

Programme

- | | |
|-------|---|
| 09.45 | Welcome
Julius von Wright, Steffen Jöhncke and Eric Allouche |
| 10.00 | Recovery and Social Justice
David Best
Professor of Criminology, Sheffield Hallam University, UK |
| 11.00 | The concepts of recovery from mental illness and drug abuse
Liese Recke
MS Psychology, Diakonhjemmet University College, NORWAY |
| 12.00 | Lunch and coffee |
| 12.30 | What is SMART-recovery?
Bendt Skjold Hansen, DENMARK |
| 13.15 | The Swedish approach
Bengt Svensson
Professor of Social Work, Malmö University, SWEDEN |
| 14.00 | Final thoughts |
| 14.30 | End of seminar |

Register for the seminar here: <http://nordicwelfare.org/registerrecovery>

Don't hesitate to contact one of the organizers if you have questions!

Julius von Wright, Editor
www.popNAD.com
Julius.von-wright@nordicwelfare.org
+350 (0)50 4349529

Eric Allouche, Chairperson
Dansk Psykolog Forenings
Selskab for Misbrugspsykologi
erall@slagelse.dk

Arranged by www.popNAD.com at the Nordic Centre for Welfare and Social Issues, Dansk Psykologforenings Selskab for Misbrugspsykologi and the Department of Anthropology, University of Copenhagen

*“You are in recovery if you say you are” is a citation of Philip Valentine of the Connecticut Community of Addiction Recovery (CCAR)